Dear Sir.

I have been reading comic books for seven to nine years. Every kind of book that was written, I have never robbed a bank or thinks, like that. My personal opinion is I think reading crime books makes a young or old person not want to commit a crime, because in every story the old saying "Crime don't pay" is carried out. The person or persons committing the crime are always caught. The fear of this stops crime and stops juvenile delinquency in fact there is not a sufficient number of the comic books on the book stands. I am 14 years old.

Thank you
Robert Merdian
