

Annotated Bibliography

Ruby Cleary

Primary Sources

Brochure: Why join the New York League of Women Voters? League of Women Voters New York State, Anne Lewis Women's Suffrage Collection, Circa 1922.

This is a brochure put out by the New York League of Women Voters to encourage more women to join. I used an image of it on my website.

Eleanor Roosevelt gathered with women reporters. Franklin D. Roosevelt Library, National First Ladies Library.

This is an image of ER with her women only press core. I used it on my website.

Eleanor Roosevelt speaking on the radio. Carlanothonyonline, National First Ladies Library.

This is an image, I used it on my website.

Large Group of Working Women. London Express, Getty Images, History, 1937.

This is an image of working women during the Great Depression. I used it on my website.

McBride, Mary Margaret. Roosevelt, Eleanor. Franklin D. Roosevelt Library and Museum, 2009.

This is an image of Eleanor being interviewed. I used it on my website.

Roosevelt Eleanor. Brown Brothers, 1950.

This is a photograph of Eleanor Roosevelt. I used it on my website.

Roosevelt, Eleanor. Jill Lepore, It's Up to the Women. New York: Nation Books, 2017.

This is a book about all the things Eleanor Roosevelt did for Women's Rights. I used this book for quotes and to hear Roosevelt's opinions.

Roosevelt, Eleanor. My Day. George Washington University, Eleanor Roosevelt Paper Project, May 14, 1945.

This is an article from Eleanor Roosevelt's newspaper column. I used it to learn about an important viewpoint she had.

Roosevelt, Eleanor. My Day. George Washington University, Eleanor Roosevelt Paper Project, Oct. 11, 1944.

This is an article from Eleanor Roosevelt's newspaper column. I used it on my website.

Roosevelt, Eleanor. My Day. George Washington University, Eleanor Roosevelt Paper Project,

This is an article from Eleanor Roosevelt's newspaper column. I used this particular article to understand what Roosevelt thought about a particular issue.

Roosevelt, Eleanor. My Day. The Eleanor Roosevelt Paper Project, 2, George Washington University, Sep. 16, 1954.

This is one of many weekly newspaper articles from Eleanor Roosevelt's column. This source gave me a view of what she would usually discuss in her column, and what the purpose was of her having her own column.

Roosevelt, Eleanor. National Archives and Records Administration, Henry M. Robert, 2, American Originals,

This is a letter from Eleanor Roosevelt to the president of the Daughters of the American Revolution concerning Roosevelt's resignation regarding a discrimination issue by the head members of the DAR. This is a very important document showing Mrs. Roosevelt's willingness to address large issues though it may affect her publicity. I used an image of it on my website.

Roosevelt, Eleanor. Pan- American Coffee Bureau Series. Scholars Space, Cannon, James, Leon, Pearson, Seymour, Dan, 2, George Washington University, Dec. 7, 1941.

This is a transcript of a discussion broadcast on the Attack on Pearl Harbor showcasing Eleanor Roosevelt. I used this source to provide another example of Roosevelt speaking directly to the women of America and acknowledging them for their help and needs through the aftermath of the tragedy.

Roosevelt, Eleanor. Pan American Coffee Bureau Series. The Eleanor Roosevelt Paper Project, Ernest K. Lindley, Jan. 4, 1942.

This is a transcript of an interview with Mrs. Lindley talking about the life and roles of a typical mother. I used this source to understand Roosevelt's view on mothers during this time.

Roosevelt, Eleanor. Transcript of Interview with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt for National Educational Television. The American Presidency Project, John F. Kennedy, April 22, 1962.

This is a transcript of an interview with Eleanor Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy. I used it to learn more about Roosevelt's opinion on women in the workplace.

First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt delivering a speech. Getty Images, National First Ladies Library.

This is an image of Eleanor Roosevelt which I used on my website.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Eleanor Roosevelt. Fotosearch/Getty Images, History, Dec. 20, 2012.

This is an image of Eleanor Roosevelt and her husband Franklin Deleano Roosevelt. I used it on my website.

First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt. Library of Congress, July 20, 1933.

This is a photograph. I used it on my website.

Time Magazine: Eleanor Roosevelt. TIME, April 7, 1952.

This is the cover of a TIME magazine issue featuring Eleanor Roosevelt. I used this image on my website.

Women's Trade Union League float. Bain News Service/Library of Congress, Washington, D.C., 1908.

This is a photo that I used on my website.

Secondary Sources

About the My Day Project. Arthur, Krock, Beasley, Maurine, Black, Allida, Blum, John Morton, Columbian College of Arts and Sciences, George Washington University.

This is an article overviewing the reason and purpose for Roosevelt's newspaper column, "My Day." I used this for information on the invention of the column.

Beasley, Maurine. Eleanor Roosevelt's White House Press Conferences. Black, Ruby. Free, Anne Cottrell. Furman, Bess. Hickok, Lorena. Woloch, Nancy, National Women's History Museum, Sep. 22, 2017.

This is an article about the press conferences Eleanor Roosevelt would hold at the White House. I used this source to learn about these particular events. I also gathered quotes from this source.

Black, Allida. "The First Ladies of the United States of America". The White House Historical Association, 2009.

This source is an article about the things Eleanor did as First Lady. I used this source to gather detailed information on what ER did.

Cornell Library. League of Women Voters. Cornell University, 2001.

This is an article about a convention put on by the LWV. I used this source to learn about this specific event.

Davidson, Renee. Eleanor Roosevelt: First Lady, League Leader, Pioneer. League of Women Voters, LWV, Mar. 13, 2014.

This article explained what the League of Women Voters was and what the goals were during Eleanor's time as First Lady. I used this site to get information on Eleanor's role as a formative member of the League. This article also briefly touched on other organizations Roosevelt was a part of leading me to further research.

Digital Public Library of America. America's Great Depression and Roosevelt's New Deal. DPLA.

This is an article about the employment of women during the Great Depression. I used this source to learn about women specifically impacted by the Great Depression and the New Deal.

Dye, Nancy Schrom. Women's Trade Union League. Nestor, Agnes. Payne, Elizabeth Anne, Encyclopedia of Chicago, 2005.

This is an article about the Women's Trade Union League Eleanor Roosevelt was a part in New York. I used this article to find out information on how this particular branch of the WTUL influenced women in New York.

Editors of Encyclopedia Britannica. Women's Trade Union League. Encyclopedia Britannica, June 4, 2015.

This is an article explaining what The Women's Trade Union League is. I used it to gather background information on the League's goals and purpose.

Edwards, Katharine. Married Women's Right to Work. University of Washington, 2009.

This source is an article about jobs for women during the Great Depression. I used it to dig deeper into what was happening during Eleanor Roosevelt's time.

Fishman, Karen. Eleanor Roosevelt at the Library. Regenhardt, Christy, The Eleanor Roosevelt Papers, George Washington University, April, 10, 2018.

This is an article about Eleanor Roosevelt's life during the time FDR was president. I used this source to learn more about Roosevelt's radio show, "Over Our Coffee Cups".

Gidlow, Liette. Beyond 1920: The Legacies of Women Suffrage. National Park Service, April 6, 2020.

This is an article about Women's Suffrage in the 1920's. I used this source to learn about what was happening up to the time Eleanor Roosevelt was impactful.

MacCarald, Clara. Eleanor Roosevelt: Progressive Reformer. The Child's World, 2018.

This is a book about how Eleanor Roosevelt influenced the nation as First Lady. I used it to learn about specific events in more detail.

Klemesrud, Judy. Assessing Eleanor Roosevelt As A Feminist. The New York Times, Nov. 5, 1984.

This article features the found facts and opinions of many feminist organization leaders, politicians, and authors. The main information I found was on the topic of why Eleanor Roosevelt was at first opposed to The Equal Rights Amendment.

Library of Congress. Eleanor Roosevelt. LOC.

This is an article about Eleanor Roosevelt's early life. I used this source for background information.

Rothman, Lily. This Is What Eleanor Roosevelt Said to America's Women on the Day of Pearl Harbor. Time, Dec. 6, 2018.

This article is about the broadcast discussion with Eleanor Roosevelt and others on the Attack of Pearl Harbor. The author of this article went deeper into how Roosevelt directed the attention to women, what she was saying and why it was important. This source helped me better understand this important event.

Smith, Stephen. Eleanor Roosevelt: The First Lady of Radio. American Public Reports, Nov. 10, 2014.

This source is an article that explains Eleanor Roosevelt's use of the radio to publicize her opinions on political matters. I used this article to get information on the radio programs she aired weekly.

VCU Libraries, National Women's Trade Union League. Virginia Commonwealth University Social Welfare History Project, VCU.

This source is an article about the National Women's Trade Union League. I used it to find background information on the League.

Vix, Kayla. 6 Women You Didn't Know Were LWV Members. League of Women Voters, Mar. 1, 2019.

This is an article on many important women involved in the LWV. I used this to find general information on Eleanor Roosevelt.

Weishan, Michael. Fireside Chat: First Feminist? Eleanor Roosevelt and Women's Rights 11/6. Franklin Delano Roosevelt Foundation, Harvard College, Sep. 16, 2017.

This is a short article briefly explaining what Eleanor Roosevelt did for Women's Rights. I used this source to find topics to look more into.

Women and The American History. Confidence and Crisis: The Great Depression. New York Historical Society.

This is an article about women during the great depression. I used this source to learn about what was going on during the time Eleanor Roosevelt was impactful.