

Annotated Bibliography

Primary Sources

Bisland, Elizabeth. In Seven Stages: A Flying Trip Around the World. New York: Harper and Brothers, 1891. Accessed 13 January 2023.

This book, written by Elizabeth Bisland, helped us to gain an opposing voice since it was written by the woman racing Nellie Bly around the world. It also provided us with an image that we used in our main event section.

Bly, Nellie. 10 Days in a Madhouse. Pictorial Weeklies, 1888. Accessed 04 December 2022.

This book, written by Nellie Bly helped us to understand how Nellie Bly rose to fame before her trip around the world.

Bly, Nellie. Around the World in Seventy-Two Days. Pictorial Weeklies, 1890. Accessed 02 December 2022.

This primary source account of Nellie Bly's journey around the world, written by her, is an exact account of everything she experienced on her voyage.

Detroit Publishing Co., Publisher, photographer by Johnston, J.S. Hamburg American Str. Augusta sic Victoria. [Between 1890 and 1900] [Photograph] Retrieved from the Library of Congress, www.loc.gov/item/2016805757/. Accessed 06 January 2023.

This image of the ship Nellie Bly sailed away on helped us to visualize her trip around the world and the conditions she often encountered.

Dispatch Building, History of Allegheny Co. Pennsylvania. 1876. Accessed 06 December 2022.

This image of the Pittsburgh Dispatch Building helped us and readers picture one of the places Bly worked early in her journalism career.

The Evening World. (New York, N.Y.) 15 November, 1889, EXTRA 2 O'CLOCK, page 1. Chronicling America: Historic American Newspapers. Lib. of Congress. Accessed 04 December 2022.

This source included the reactions of many when Nellie Bly set off on her trip and included information about Elizabeth Bisland which we used to provide opposing voice.

The Evening World. (New York, N.Y.) 25 January, 1890. Chronicling America: Historic American Newspapers. Lib. of Congress. Accessed 03 December 2022.

This source included a poem written by George Hoey that portrayed Nellie Bly's trip around the world in a fun and artistic way. It also included reactions of people around the world throughout and after Nellie Bly's trip which was used as evidence in our short-term impacts.

The Evening World. (New York, N.Y.) 25 January 1890, EXTRA 2 O'CLOCK, page 1-4 Chronicling America: Historic American Newspapers. Lib. of Congress. Accessed 03 December 2022.

This 2 O'Clock extra of the paper published on January 25, 1890 includes how Nellie Bly will be returning and the significance of her accomplishment.

Home Again Illus. in The New York World Evening Edition. Nellie Bly Extra. New York World, 1890 January 25, pg. 1. Accessed 05 January 2023.

This illustration shows the reaction of the general public after Nellie Bly returned from her trip around the world. We used this image to help us understand the impact of her trip.

“How Bly Was Discovered”. Pittsburgh Commercial Gazette, 25 January 1890, page 1. Accessed 05 December 2022.

This newspaper article provided a primary source account of how Nellie Bly was introduced to the field of journalism.

The Miriam and Ira D. Wallach Division of Art, Prints and Photographs: Print Collection, The New York Public Library. “View of the lunatic asylum and mad house, on Blackwell’s Island, New York” New York Public Library Digital Collections. 1853. Accessed 18 November 2022.

This image of the women’s lunatic asylum on Blackwell’s Island helped us and the readers to picture the place where Bly was held.

Nellie Bly / Myers, N.Y.* Photogarh. Retrieved from the Library of Congress, www.loc.gov/item/89711961/. Accessed 13 January 2023.

This image of Nellie Bly was used in our website for readers to have an image of her to reference.

Nellie Bly. February 21. Photograph. Retrieved from the Library of Congress, www.loc.gov/item/2004671937/. Accessed 22 December 2022.

This image of Nellie Bly helped us and readers visualize the amazing woman.

Newspaper Row, New York City, Detroit Publishing Co. c. 1905, Library of Congress. Accessed 06 December 2022.

This image helped us to picture one of the places that Nellie Bly worked in New York.

“Playing Mad Woman.” The Sun, 14 October 1887, page 1. Accessed 07 December 2022.

This newspaper article includes details about Nellie Bly being committed to the Blackwell’s Island insane asylum and how she was “too sharp for the island doctors”.

Porter, Edwin S., Camera, Inc Thomas A. Edison, and Paper Print Collection.

Panorama of Blackwell’s Island, N.Y. United States: Thomas A. Edison Inc.

[Video] Retrieved from the Library of Congress,

www.loc.gov/item/00694366. Accessed 24 November 2022.

This panorama of Blackwell's Island, recorded in 1903 helped us to visualize what Nellie’s experience of the madhouse may have been like. We used this video as media on our website.

The Quiet Observer. “What Doth It Profit A Girl to Girdle the Earth?” Pittsburgh Commercial Gazette, 27 January 1890. Accessed 27 November 2022.

This source provided us with evidence about the reactions of many, including fellow newspapers after Nellie Bly completed her journey, which were used to further our historical argument.

Round The World With Nellie Bly Board Game, J.A. Crozier, McLoughlin Brothers, 1890. Accessed 05 January 2023.

This image shows one of the ways Nellie Bly was successful, in showing that she even got a board game based on her trip around the world.

Secondary Sources

Bernard, Diane. "She went undercover to expose an insane asylum's horrors.

Now Nellie Bly is getting her due." washingtonpost.com, 28 July 2019. Gale in Context: Opposing Viewpoints, link.gale.com/apps/doc/A594818820/OVIC?u=lom_travems&sid=bookmark-OVIC&xid=6dc9015f. Accessed 21 November 2022.

This article provided information about the reactions of various newspapers and people after Nellie Bly completed her trip around the world.

Biography.com editors. "Nellie Bly Biography," The Biography.com website, A&E Television Networks. 02 April 2014. www.biography.com/activist/nellie-bly.
Accessed 10 November 2022.

This source provided us with a general overview of Nellie Bly's life and her works and helped us to focus our further research.

"Elizabeth Cochrane Seaman," Encyclopedia of World Biography Online, Gale, 1998. Gale in Context: Opposing Viewpoints, link.gale.com/apps/doc/K1631005934/OVIC?u=lom_travems&sid=bookmark-OVIC&xid=6834dff0. Accessed 10 November 2022.

This source provided more detailed information about her newspaper reports when visiting the insane asylum, which helped us to craft the Insanity and Inspiration portion of our website.

Fredeen, Charles. Nellie Bly: Daredevil Reporter. Lerner, 2000. Accessed 29
November 2022.

This book helped us to further understand the build-up and short-term impacts of her trip around the world. We used information about the inspiration for her voyage and the reactions of many after she had accomplished her goal to further our historical argument.

Kroeger, Brooke. Nellie Bly: Daredevil, Reporter, Feminist. New York: Times Books, 1994. Accessed 09 December 2022.

This book gave us a general overview of Nellie Bly's life and accomplishments and included great secondary source information, used in our project to state simple ideas.

Maranzani, Barbara. Biography.com, A&E Television Networks, 12 November 2020, www.biography.com/authors-writers/inside-nelly-bly-10-days-madhouse. Accessed 11 November 2022.

This source illustrated and provided a better understanding of Nellie Bly's experience in the madhouse on Blackwell's Island.

"Nellie Bly: Around the World," Heinz History Center, 07 September 2022, www.heinzhistorycenter.org/learn/women-forging-the-way/nellie-bly-around-the-world/. Accessed 11 November 2022.

This source provided an in-depth record of the most important events of Nellie Bly's trip around the world, including her inspiration for the trip and its lasting impact.

“Nellie’s Big Adventure.” *PBS, Public Broadcasting Service,

<https://www.pbs.org/wgbh/americanexperience/features/world-nellies-big-adventure/>. Accessed 12 January 2023.

This source provided us with the major stops on Nellie Bly’s journey and an image that we used in our main event section to illustrate the cities she visited or passed through.

Norwood, Arlisha and Mariana Brandman. “Nellie Bly,” *National Women’s History Museum. National Women’s History Museum, 2022.

www.womenshistory.org/education-resources/biographies/nellie-bly. Accessed 10 November 2022.

This source provided us with a general overview of Nellie Bly’s life and her works and helped us to focus our further research.

The Telegraph-courier. [volume] (Kenosha, Wis.) 06 November, 1924. Chronicling America: Historic American Newspapers. Lib. of Congress. Accessed 02 December 2022.

This source detailed our main event, Nellie Bly’s trip, and others she had inspired after her.